

STREET CLEANING GRAFTERS SHOULD BE SENT TO JAIL

That Is if the Charges Are True, Says Mayor
McClellan.

"Very serious charges have been made against Street Cleaning Commissioner Woodbury and other officials of the department, and I say unequivocally that if he or any of the others is guilty he should be sent to State's prison, and if the charges are not true they should be investigated to the very bottom and the Commissioner vindicated."

This sensational statement was made by Mayor McClellan today at the meeting of the Board of Estimate when the matter of the Aldermanic resolution calling for the appropriation of $25,000 for the purposes of the proposed Aldermanic investigation came up for consideration.

"It is my duty to make a statement right here," said the Mayor, "Commissioner Woodbury is one of my constituents and one of my friends, but I reiterate that if the charges made against him are true he is unfit to hold office and should be punished if guilty. If not he should be vindicated."

"I sincerely trust that the proposed investigation is conducted with the most honest motives and in justice to every honest man. I am in favor of voting for the appropriation as requested, but for even a large amount it is found to be necessary."

Neither Commissioner Woodbury nor any member of the Street Cleaning Department was present when this statement was made, but the Board room was fairly well filled with spectators and city officials who received the statement with interest.

Algerman J. Cowden Meyers, the Republican leader of the Board of Aldermen, chose to make his statement appear in advocacy of the resolution, explained to the Mayor and the other members of the Board that while he did not expect evidence of a nature warranting imprisonment might result from the investigation, he had evidence that fraud, graft and corruption existed in the department, and that the one result of the investigation would be to clean the department and reform present methods as well as be a benefit to the city from an economic standpoint.

The Board voted to allow the committee an advance of ten thousand dollars, with the understanding that on the same resolution it may call for as much more as may be required. The Corporation Counsel will employ special counsel for the committee.

BROOKLYN GRAND JURY CENSURES WOODBURY.

Commissioner Woodbury was severely censured today in a long presentment returned by the Grand Jury in Brooklyn to County Judge Aspinwall setting forth the unclean condition of the streets in that borough and the unsanitary way in which ashes are removed in violation of terms of the contract existing between the city and the B. R. T. The Grand Jury puts itself on record as supporting the bill pending in the Legislature providing for the removal of the supervision of street cleaning in Brooklyn from the control of Woodbury and giving it to the control of the Board of Estimate.

It also takes him to task for not enforcing the ash removal contract. To-day's presentment of the Grand Jury considering the facts in the ash contract first brought to the attention of the World, Borough President Cohen and other officials and prominent citizens of Brooklyn have testified before that body. It was expected that the Grand Jury would agree with the opinion of the three witnesses, but the severity of the arraignment of Woodbury was even greater than had been expected.

Ash Removal Contract.
In the presentment it is set forth first that the ash removal contract was entered into in 1892 with H. Milton Kennedy, who later turned it over to the American Railway Traffic Company, one of the subsidiary corporations of the B. R. T. The contract calls for the removal of ashes from the collecting carts to the cars inside of "completely enclosed buildings, said buildings to be of stone and iron and of pleasing architectural appearance."

The Grand Jury says it is aware of the fact that after the original contract was made certain modifications were allowed by consent of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. It points out, however, that the character of the buildings is not one of the matters touched upon in these agreements. It says that the buildings are not of the required materials and are "merely lean-to inclosures with corrugated iron walls and wooden supporting posts and only partly roofed."

The presentment declares that in the transfer of ashes the dust settles on surrounding property to such an extent as to constitute a public nuisance. Then it goes on to say:

"The Grand Jury believes that for permitting a railroad company to maintain such stations for so long a time the Street Cleaning Commissioner of the city of New York is to be censured; that between him and the contractor in this matter there should have been no question of convenience to the contractor to interfere with the full execution of the contract."

ENTOMBED MEN LIVED ON HAY THREE WEEKS

Thirteen Given Up as Dead; Taken Alive and Well from Mine.

LENS, France, March 30.—Thirteen of the 1,200 miners who were entombed in the coal mines at Courrières twenty days ago were taken from the mine alive and well to-day.

They had lived on hay found in one of the underground stables and the morsels of food which they took into the mine with them nearly three weeks ago.

All attempts to rescue the entombed men had been abandoned more than two weeks ago.

The sudden appearance of the imprisoned men caused stupefaction. A gang of salvagers had just completed their night's work when they were startled to see a group of miners, terribly haggard and exhausted, and with eyes sunken, appear from a remote part of the mine.

They found the body of a horse which stated that they had broken out of a distant gallery, where they had been entombed since the disaster of March 10.

The rescued men were taken up the elevator, but were unable to see, owing to the dazzling sunlight. All were hurried to a hospital. The men were able to talk feebly but sensibly. They all asked for news of relatives or friends, and wished to go home immediately.

The doctors, however, prevented them with difficulty from so doing. Later crowds besieged the mines in the hope of hearing of further escapes, necessitating the employment of a strong police force and detachments of troops to maintain order.

It is said that others of the entombed miners are alive and about to be brought out, their signals having been heard.

One of the men rescued to-day, a man named Nemy, said that during the first eight days the party ate the bark off the timbering of the mine. Later they found the body of a horse which they cut up and ate with hay.

The survivors brought up portions of the horse meat.

Nemy, who was the most lucid of the miners who escaped, graphically described their imprisonment as follows: "After the explosion I groped my way about, stumbling over bodies and seeking refuge from the gases. I found some comrades sheltered in a remote niche. We ate earth and bark for eight days and then these provisions gave out."

"We continued to grope among the bodies seeking for an outlet from our prison, but were forced back time and time again. We found some hay which we ate, and two days after we found a dead horse which we cut up and ate with the hay and bark. We suffered most from want of water. Finally we became desperate and separated into three parties and communicated with each other by shouts."

"Last night we felt a draft of fresh air which finally guided us to an opening."

Vast crowds of people around the hospital where the escaped men are being treated.

of this contract. If the terms of the contract as it was at first proposed were impracticable, then an adjustment was done to the other bidders who were required to bid themselves to comply with those terms, and an injustice was done to the city, because of the manifest advantages of this system, it accepted the highest bid.

Brooklyn Streets Filthy.
The presentment then takes up matter of street cleaning. It declares that the Commissioner of Brooklyn only such time as he can spare from his administrative duties in Manhattan and the Bronx.

The Grand Jury believes that Brooklyn streets are in worse shape than those of the other boroughs, and that there should be "at least a Deputy Commissioner" appointed to look after Brooklyn alone. It then declares itself in support of the bill pending in the Legislature which will give the supervision of cleaning the streets in Brooklyn to the Brooklyn Borough Government.

The Grand Jury says it is aware of the fact that after the original contract was made certain modifications were allowed by consent of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. It points out, however, that the character of the buildings is not one of the matters touched upon in these agreements. It says that the buildings are not of the required materials and are "merely lean-to inclosures with corrugated iron walls and wooden supporting posts and only partly roofed."

The presentment declares that in the transfer of ashes the dust settles on surrounding property to such an extent as to constitute a public nuisance. Then it goes on to say:

FINDS HER CHILDREN OVERCOME BY GAS

Mrs. Harowitz Returns from Grocer's Just in Time to Save Lives.

Mrs. Cella Harowitz, of No. 220 East One Hundred and Ninth street, went to the grocer's to-day and left her six-year-old daughter Ida to mother four-year-old Minnie and Rachel, the baby. It was her custom to leave them alone for a brief time each morning. Little Ida had never failed to fend the children from harm.

Just when Mrs. Harowitz climbed the stairs to-day and opened the door the gas she saw made her drop her packages and run with alarm. Ida, Minnie and Rachel were lying on the floor unconscious. The gas was out and the door unlocked.

Policeman Bowen found the children unconscious and the mother frantic with alarm.

Harlem Hospital on a hurry call. Just a little while longer, and I would not have been needed, said the doctor. He worked for half an hour over the children and brought them around.

Little Ida wept hysterically when she regained her senses. She didn't know how it happened.

IDAHOW UNIVERSITY BURNED.
MOSCOW, Idaho, March 30.—The main building of the University of Idaho was destroyed by fire early to-day. The building was crowded last night with students, who had listened to a debate between the University of Washington and the University of Idaho. One man was killed in the fire at the time of the blaze, but escaped injury. The origin of the fire is not known.

DOES DYSPYPSIA OR INDIGESTION BOTHER YOU?
Do you know what it is to enjoy a good square meal? Even if you feel like it, dare you satisfy your desire?

Dyspepsia is one of the most complex functions of the human body, yet it is too, the most common. Indigestion is simply the overflow of food into a condition in which it can be added to the blood. When your system overflows or runs down, Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, which are really a digestive treatment, readily set things right. First, the gastric tablets increase secretion, full-size tablets saturate the food and restore fermentation, and then, with the aid of the dyspepsia tablets, digestion goes on naturally—that's the whole secret. Rexall's treatment for twenty-five cents may be had of any Rexall Store in New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City and Newark.
